SPIRIT OF THE R.C.A.F.—Described as symbolic of the Air Force motto, Per Ardua Ad Astra, this striking sculpture group is entitled "The Spirit of the R.C.A.F." The work is by W. Stanley Martin, a Montreal-born sculptor residing in New York. The R.C.A.F. also inspired 25-year-old Martin's "Wings of Canada," a symbolic figure riding a winged horse.

Final Bulletins

Burma Army Gets Into Action

RANGOON (CP)—British combined headquarters announced tonight that British troops had "met" the Japanese on the Burma-Thailand border.

"Our troops were in contact with the enemy at Mida in south Burma last night," the communiqué said. "No further details are yet available."

At the same time, the war report said, British bombers smashed at an airbase in Thailand, damaging planes on the ground, and machine-gunned an armored train. No British planes were lost in the attack.

Blackout Headlights

VANCOUVER (CP)—A special committee of aldermen today drafted a recommendation to that city council that the provincial government be asked to ban painted motor car headlights for use in blackouts. Such action would force motorists to equip their cars with removable, headlight masks.

Cripps Retires

LONDON (CP)—The Foreign Office tonight announced Sir Stafford Cripps, British ambassador to Russia, is relinquishing his post at his own request and that Sir Archibald Clark Kerr, now envoy to Chungking, has been designated to succeed him. Sir Horace Seymour, Assistant Under-Secretary of State in the Foreign Office, has been named as the new ambassador to China. Sir Stafford, it was said authoritatively, will return to England in the near future.

Quizzes Censored

NEW YORK (AP)—Although under certain restrictions, quiz shows apparently are not to be banned as a result of the new radio censorship code announced today.

"We do not anticipate the code will cancel any of the quiz programs now on NBC," the National Broadcasting Company said this afternoon.

The Columbia Broadcasting System was of a similar opinion. NBC also stated a self-imposed censorship had been in effect since the U.S. got into the war.

Norse Fliers Escape

MONTREAL (CP)—Crown Prince Olav of Norway said today that most of his country's airmen have escaped from their Nazi-occupied homeland and now are either on active service or are helping train more Norse fliers in Canada.

Crown Princess Martha accompanied the prince as he paused here on his way to Ottawa from Washington.

Another Ship Sunk 100 Miles From New York

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States Navy announced this afternoon that the tanker Colmbra, flying the flag of an Allied nation, was "assumed to have been torpedoed" by an enemy submarine about 100 miles east of New York.

The vessel was observed in sinking condition Thursday morning, the navy said, and its plight had been reported before, but today's account was the first to give its name.

An unknown number of survivors has been picked up, it was added.

The navy appended the following "note to editors" to explain the mix-up which resulted Thursday when the navy department in Washington was unable to confirm a coastguard report of the sinking, which followed by 32 hours the torpedoing of the Panamanian tanker Norcross, some 60 miles off Long Island.

"This is the ship around which so much confusion developed yesterday. It is not a new incident. The confusion resulted largely from difficulties in navy communications, about which a fuller explanation is being forwarded to you."

Argentina May Join Break With Hitler

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—Indications that Argentina had changed her position and might come into line with her sister republics in a resolution calling for a break of all relations with the Axis powers were seen today in informed quarters as the conference of American Foreign Ministers swung into action.

Preconference talks between her representatives and other conference leaders, in which Argentina was said to have been brought under considerable pressure by her sister republics, were believed to have averted a deadlock on the issue, one of the most important on the agenda.

The last obstacle to accord, however, was not yet removed. Observers expressed the belief the border dispute between Peru and Ecuador left a stumbling block in the path of harmonious action.

Indications were that the resolution calling for a 100 per cent break in relations with the Axis would be tested before tonight's session is adjourned.

It was placed before the conference this morning by Colombia's representative, Gabriel Turbay, ambassador to the United States.

Check Vegetable Prices

TORONTO (CP)—Edgar Burton, national retail administrator of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, issued a warning today that exorbitant prices to the public for vegetables will not be tolerated. He said the board had been advised of a rapid rise in the price of vegetables in the past month.

No ceiling has been set on vegetable prices.

They Don't Know the Half of It

OTTAWA (CP)—Members of the national and regional labor boards today ended a series of meetings at which administration problems of the government's wartime wage policy were discussed.

"We have a tough and vital job ahead of us," Labor Minister Mitchell told the board members at the concluding session.

"It has been said the government did not consult both sides sufficiently before introducing this program. Let us show the people of Canada that we can all work together."

OTTAWA (CP)—The promotion of Justice A. I. Fisher of the British Columbia Supreme Court to the Appeal Court was announced late today by the Department of Justice at Ottawa.

Judge Joseph Nealon Ellis of the Vancouver County Court was appointed to the Supreme Court vacancy created by the elevation of Justice Fisher, and James Bruce Boyd, Vancouver barrister, was appointed to succeed to the Vancouver County Court vacancy. Mr. Boyd is a former partner of Pensions Minister Ian Mackenzie.

Australians Smash Jap Armored Units

By C. YATES McDANIEL
SINGAPORE (AP)—Rallying around a fresh force of battle-hungry and jungle-wise Australians, the British imperial defenders of Singapore appeared today to have checked the Japanese in their offensive toward this vital Oriental base.

Two Japanese armored units were reported shattered by the stiffened defence all along a shortened front in lower Malaya, aided by considerable aerial support.

The fight occurred Thursday in eastern Negri Sembilan state, some 120 miles north of Singapore, as the main body of the Australians, singing and eager for a fight, moved into battle positions on the main Malayan front for their first taste of fire.

20 Enemy Tanks, Other Cars Wrecked

While the air force smashed at Japanese truck and railway concentrations near Tampin, 120 miles northwest of Singapore, British imperial forces, fighting with fresh fury in the coastal strip north of the Malacca plain, knocked out 14 Japanese tanks and 10 armored vehicles. The official communiqué said advance guards of the Australians smashed six more tanks and inflicted heavy casualties in their first clash with the enemy since the Malayan invasion began.

The scene of the air attack indicated British forces were hitting just behind the Japanese front lines in preparation for a battle in that sector just north of Johore State.

The R.A.F. also flew far to the rear of the Japanese spearhead pushing down western Malaya and sank a number of barges at Sungai Linggi, damaged several others and attacked targets at Sungai Patani, northeast of Penang.

There was some contact with the Japanese on the western part of the front, but the general situation remains unchanged, it was said.

Have Situation In Hand, Curtin Says

CANBERRA (CP)—Prime Minister John Curtin announced today that reports from the Malayan front "indicate the Australian Imperial force is fighting magnificently and has the situation in hand, although it remains most difficult owing to the absence of air support."

Following up this success, the British command announced, a large force of planes attacked concentrations of Japanese transport and rolling stock on roads and railways in the Tampin area, 120 miles northwest of Singapore and west of Thursday's battle scene. The command said the planes knocked out 14 Japanese tanks and 10 armored vehicles. The official communiqué said advance guards of the Australians smashed six more tanks and inflicted heavy casualties in their first clash with the enemy since the Malayan invasion began.

The chief said the fire appeared to have begun in a bed mattress stored in the basement.

Damage was confined to the basement, except for a scorched wall in the hallway. The first and second floors were tainted by smoke.

While firemen fought the blaze

Twelve elderly men and women in night attire were carried down ladders to safety from second and third story windows by firemen fighting a blaze at The Angela, residential hotel, 923 Burdett Avenue, at 7:40 this morning. Twenty others were evacuated from smoke-filled rooms.

Mrs. J. A. Melhado, age 57, fell 12 feet to the ground while escaping by a fire escape from her second-floor suite on the south side of the building. She was moved to the Mt. St. Mary Hospital by Constable Brook Douglas of the city police. She suffered bruises, a cut on the back of the head and a sprained back.

5 Jap Ships Sunk By U.S. Asiatic Fleet

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States Asiatic fleet has sunk three enemy transports and two large Japanese cargo vessels in the Far East.

These sinkings, announced today by the navy, brought to a total of 24 the number of Japanese warships and noncombatant vessels sunk by the United States Navy and marine forces.

The navy communiqué, based on reports received up to 6 a.m. P.S.T. today, reported the submarine menace to the northeast coast of the United States "remains unchanged."

The success of Admiral Thomas C. Hart's Asiatic fleet in waging its fight against the Japanese, even though dispossessed of its base at Cavite, Philippine Islands, was underscored Thursday by the sinking of a speedy 17,000-ton Japanese passenger and cargo liner of the Yawata class.

The navy gave no names or identification of the five additional Japanese ships sent to the bottom.

LAND FIGHTING

Japanese attack planes and dive bombers are being used incessantly against the front line and artillery positions of the American and Philippine defence forces on the island of Luzon.

The United States War Department, reporting this today, said ground fighting of varying intensity also continued all along the front line, with Japanese shock troops attempting aggressive infiltration.

The department's communiqué also said that reports reaching Gen. Douglas MacArthur, commanding the Philippine defenders, indicated the Japanese were looting and devastating the Philippine countryside systematically.

Double-breasted Suits on Way Out

MONTREAL (CP)—The Wartime Prices and Trade Board issued today regulations concerning grapefruit juice and corsets and hinted that double-breasted suits are on the way out.

The board announces subsidies would be paid to importers of grapefruit juice to enable consumers to purchase the commodity at prices not greater than those paid during the basic period from last Sept. 15 to Oct. 11.

The maximum subsidy will be 20 cents per dozen 20-ounce cans and 50 cents per dozen 48-ounce cans, providing the laid-down costs at the port of clearance, together with the subsidy, shall not be greater than $1.03 and $2.23, respectively, for unsweetened juice and $1.06 and $2.34, respectively, for sweetened.

The subsidy becomes effective immediately and applies to grapefruit juice from all sources.

In another order, the board announced the manufacture of corsets, girdles and other similar articles made of all-elastic has been banned.

A spokesman said there was a "distinct" possibility a ban would be placed on the manufacture of men's double-breasted suits. He said such suits take about five inches more cloth than a single-breasted, in addition to extra buttons.

Trawler Conqueror Of U-Boat Overdue

LONDON (CP)—The Admiralty announced today the trawler Lady Shirley which sank the German submarine U-221 Oct. 4 is overdue and considered lost.

The Lady Shirley is credited with sinking the U-boat in a dramatic, fast-firing fight against what the Admiralty termed "a larger and better equipped adversary."

Several four-inch shells from the trawler disabled the submarine after it had been forced to the surface by depth bombs, and the German crew abandoned the ship just before it sank. Forty-four of the German seamen were taken aboard the trawler as prisoners.

Jap Claim

LONDON (CP)—Reuters reported today a broadcast by the Japanese-controlled Saigon radio claimed Japanese troops were within 62 miles of Singapore.

(The Japanese frequently have used the Saigon radio as a sounding board for reports which they do not wish to give their official stamp.)

Tanks Smash at Taganrog

Reds Tighten Trap On 100,000 Nazis

Masses of Russian tanks were reported smashing today at the gates of German-held Taganrog, 40 miles west of Rostov-on-Don, as Marshal Semenov, Timoshenko's Red armies, pressed a general counter offensive through the Ukraine and tightened a trap on 100,000 Germans in the Crimea.

"The Soviet forces are now battering fiercely at the gates of Taganrog," a BBC broadcast said.

Fighting Nears Crimean Capital

Russian troops were reported fighting the invaders a few miles from Simferopol, the Crimean capital, 40 miles north of Sebastopol on the railroad to the Russian mainland.

The direction of the Soviet thrust against Simferopol was not given—whether executed by troops driven westward across the peninsula from Kerch and Feodosiya; from beachheads at Yevpatoriya on the west coast, or from Sebastopol itself. In any case, the threat against the main north-south rail line at Simferopol sharply endangered the Germans' chances of escaping.

On the basis of previous Soviet reports, the German forces at Taganrog had long since been isolated by Russian columns which by-passed the city in pursuit of the main Axis armies retreating along the Sea of Azov toward Mariupol.

Unbroken Series Of Red Triumphs

Soviet front line dispatches chronicled an unbroken series of Russian triumphs along the entire 1,200-mile battlefield from Leningrad to the Black Sea.

In the northeast Ukraine, Red army troops were reported heaving a valiant assault on German forces at Kharkov, in the Donets River industrial basin, after piercing the city's outer defences at several points.

On the central front, the phrase "history repeats itself" took on gloomy new significance for the Germans as Red army spearheads, adopting Nazi encirclement tactics, threatened half a dozen "anchor points" on Hitler's winter defence line.

A war map showing the positions of Soviet vanguards revealed all too clearly to Hitler that his strongholds at Kursk, Orel, Bryansk, Roslavl, Vyazma and Rzhev—key cities on a 350-mile defence arc—were endangered by the Soviet counter-sweep.

Describes Churchill Visit

Every Man Behind Gun Or Tool—Mayhew Slogan

"Should our slogan for 1942 not be—Every man in Canada behind a gun or a tool? Either making, or using these weapons referred to?" R. W. Mayhew, M.P. for Victoria, asked at a meeting of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce in Spencer's dining-room today.

"We, too, have traveled a tough road. We are not made of sugar candy. We will do our part in this struggle."

His words were prompted by the indomitable courage and spirit of Prime Minister Winston Churchill on whose visit and reception at Ottawa he spoke.

"Let me conclude with one more quotation," Mr. Mayhew said: "Let us then, sir, address ourselves to our task, not in any way underrating its trials, difficulties and perils, but in good heart and sober confidence, resolved that whatever the cost—whatever the suffering—we shall stand by one another—time and faithful comrades—and do our duty, God helping, to the end."

WILL SPEED EFFORT

The effect of Mr. Churchill's visit on Canada's war effort would be very marked, Mr. Mayhew said. "It will mean the speeding up of our war industries, the speeding up of our total war machine, making better use of the available manpower in Canada."

Canadian soldiers, sailors and air men will, no doubt, be found on many different battlefronts before the year is over."

Mr. Mayhew gave a graphic description of the welcome and appearance of Mr. Churchill in Ottawa.

"Zero weather did not hold back the crowds. Wherever he appeared there were citizens to cheer and to welcome him. On this particular occasion, I was the envy of all Victoria," he said. He would cherish the memory of the occasion as long as memory lasted.

Mr. Mayhew described the crowds of citizens who gathered early, lined the roads and shouted their welcome on the frosty first morning. He pictured the Privy Council Chamber and the crowds which watched him enter, giving full-throated greetings from the bottom of their hearts.

DRANK IN COURAGE
The Victoria member gave an account of the assembly in the jammed House of Commons chamber where members and dignitaries and as many of the public as could be accommodated heard the British leader.

"Large floodlights placed in the Ladies' Gallery lit up the chamber like day—a real cameraman's paradise—and the cameras were clicking from every angle," he said. Sound equipment was installed as were quarters for commentators who gave a running description of what was going on both outside the chamber and in the House of Commons itself.

"The big moment for those housed in the House of Commons had arrived. Mr. Speaker had just entered the chamber, followed by this great man of destiny—the hero of the British Empire—Winston Churchill.

"The first shadow of Mr. Speaker had not taken real shape before every person in that vast crowd was on his or her feet, cheering, clapping, showing a welcome in every possible way. The floodgates of emotion were open. Everyone struggled to express his everlasting thanks and confidence. We were filling our souls with the courage and strength that radiated from this great man even before he started speaking."

Mr. Mayhew described the speech, slow and measured. "You realized immediately his sincerity and anxiety," he said.

NO PLACE FOR SLACKER
"He spoke of his feeling of encouragement since coming to Canada, of England's gratefulness for all Canada has done in the common cause, of Canada as a potent magnet, drawing together those of the new and old worlds whose fortunes are united in the deadly struggle against a common foe. He spoke words of encouragement, words of caution but he never promised an easy moment or an idle moment. He left no place for the slacker."

Mr. Mayhew dealt with another historic speech by the Prime Minister in June, 1940, following the fall of France, as another embodiment of the man's courage. On that occasion he had recognized the power of the new world's effort.

Since that time Canada had helped supply the machine tools, the Victoria member stated. She had supplied in the neighborhood of a billion dollars' worth of tools to strengthen that arm and we shall keep on sending the tools. "We shall keep on putting them within his reach to strike where and when he will. They will not be wasted. We must help keep his promise," he continued, quoting the Churchill pledge to turn weapons plentiful and sharp against the evildoers.

Malaya Setbacks Force Changes

Big Shake-up Foreseen In Churchill Cabinet

LONDON (CP)—The Associated Press quoted informed quarters today as forecasting a "drastic reconstruction" of the Churchill government, with emphasis on the War and Colonial offices.

The view in qualified circles, said the Associated Press, is that the Prime Minister has been "let down" by advisers on the Oriental situation and that immediate changes are essential because of the setbacks in Malaya.

As Minister of Defence, Mr. Churchill also is responsible for all land, sea and air operations.

ADVISERS FIRED

"Some of Mr. Churchill's advisers in the Pacific already have been sacked," one observer said. But the most sweeping changes, he added, will involve "the political heads for the War Office and the Colonial Office and departments concerned with the military and civil administration in Malaya and other British possessions in the Pacific."

"Cap. (David) Margeson, War Minister, whose administrative capacity is appreciated by the Prime Minister, will be given another job," the source said, adding, however:

"I should not be surprised if his two under-secretaries, Lord Croft and Sir Edward Grigg, were dropped from the government."

SINICURE FOR MOYNE

"Lord Moyne is leader of the House of Lords as well as Colonial Secretary and, therefore, he may be given a sinicure job to enable him to continue as the Lords leader."

Several sources agreed new blood and new drive are what is wanted. These attributes, in the opinion of some, are best found in Sir Stafford Cripps, British ambassador to Russia, who has been reported wanting to return home; Sir Andrew Duncan, President of the Board of Trade, and Thomas Johnston, Secretary of State for Scotland, who is said to be "a proved administrator."

It was regarded likely also that Mr. Churchill would form a war cabinet with ministers unencumbered by departmental duties—a proposal he has turned down in the past. Therefore it was suggested, Foreign Secretary Eden, Supply Minister, Lord Beaverbrook, Labor Minister Ernest Bevin and Sir Kingsley Wood, Chancellor of the Exchequer, may be left out and reconstituted as a war executive body.

Canada Keeps 1,063 in Camps

493 Internees Freed, Communists Still Held

OTTAWA (CP)—Out of a total of 1,556 internees in Canada under the Defence of Canada Regulations since the war started, 493 persons have been released, Justice Minister St. Laurent revealed.

Of those interned, 442 were enemy aliens arrested under authority of section 25 of the act, while 1,114 were apprehended under section 21 and may have included some enemy aliens among others placed in internment because of their potential danger to the security of the state.

Among the 493 releases there were 408 who were interned under sections 21 and 85, who were interned because they were enemy aliens.

Section 21 of the act empowers the minister and his officials to intern those believed to constitute a threat to the safety of the state if permitted their freedom, and section 85 and other relative sections empower the minister to intern enemy aliens when such action is considered necessary to national security.

COMMUNISTS' POSITION
Mr. St. Laurent told reporters there was no change in the attitude of the government to ward those interned because of their Communist activities in Canada.

"No one has been interned because of his sympathy for Soviet Russia, but because he has advocated policies which constituted a threat to Canadian institutions," the minister said.

He said 40 Japanese had been interned since that country entered the war, and added that changes in Defence of Canada Regulations would be made to permit dealing with the Japanese problem along the lines announced earlier this week by the interdepartmental committee, headed by Pensions Minister Mackenzie.

One of the most prominent of Canada's internees, former Mayor Camille Houde of Montreal, member of the Quebec Legislature for Montreal-St. Mary, never has made any effort to obtain his release, the minister said.

Provisions exist under the regulations for every person interned to have a hearing before a three-man committee, with legal counsel and access to all relevant charges against him, but no application had been made on behalf of former Mayor Houde.

Mr. St. Laurent was questioned on reports that "some hundreds" of Communists would be released. He said that would be impossible because there were fewer than 100 interned.

MESSAGES TO SOLDIERS
Quite recently, the minister said, subversive "directives" had been distributed in the name of the Communist headquarters in Canada, from a source the Royal Canadian Mounted Police had been unable to trace. These had been circulated among soldiers urging them to take action against their superior officers.

"Regardless of what may be taking place in Russia, the Communists in Canada are pursuing their prime objectives, but the police in spite of the most strenuous efforts, have been unable to locate their headquarters," said the minister.

"Have they been able to trace Tim Buck?" the minister was asked.

(Tim Buck of Toronto formerly was general secretary of the Communist Party in Canada.)

"Our information is that Tim Buck is not in Canada," the minister replied.

"Is it your information that he is in Detroit?" the reporter asked.

"We have heard that he is in Detroit," the minister said.

Mr. St. Laurent said it should be emphasized the Defence of Canada regulations are not designed to punish offenders but to safeguard the state against possible dangers.

Prosecutions in the courts had been incidental internments, but when internments followed the action was not a punishment but a precaution against future offences.

There had been six cases in which persons charged and prosecuted, under the act, and acquitted, had been interned following acquittal. In two of those cases the acquittal was on technical grounds.

The minister was questioned on procedure regarding appeals from internees since two three-man appeal committees were set

Japs Walk Into Trap

Australian Ambush Inflicts Slaughter

MELBOURNE (AP)—Sgt. Ian Fitchell, official correspondent with the Australian Imperial Forces in Malaya, said in a report received today that Australians have taken part with a composite Australian, British and Indian force in recent action.

The report said the first clash occurred in the eastern part of Negri Sembilan province when a Japanese force was ambushed after the New South Wales Infantry had blown up a bridge behind the invaders, cutting them off from the remainder of their forces.

The Australians were hidden in the jungle on each side of the road and inflicted terrible slaughter in wiping out the advance party of Japanese troops. Full preparations had been made to meet the enemy with the tactics they themselves had used so successfully in their advance all down the Malayan Peninsula.

CATCH JAPS NAPPING

This Australian blow caught the enemy completely unawares. He was up against a plan especially conceived to outwit his over tactics. During the past month the Australians had approached enemy action with "hacksles up," as one of them put it, all conscious of the heavy responsibility of their task.

This swift move helping to block the Japanese advance to Singapore was one of the best kept secrets of the war. Until the end of last week the Victoria and New South Wales troops employed had almost given up hope of seeing action. Orders to move came with dramatic swiftness. Some units were on their way within an hour.

The positions the Australians now are holding had been selected by special reconnaissance parties some weeks ago, but since then all the officers engaged in this reconnaissance have been returned to their units.

Maj. Gen. Gordon Bennett, general officer commanding the A.I.F. in Malaya, has fresh troops desperate for action, men who have trained and lived in the jungle for many months. Many of the troops now engaged are timber cutters from the jungles.

New Problem For Hitler

Shortage of Nazi Labor Due to Loss in Russia

By MAX HARRELSON
BERNE (AP)—A labor shortage in Germany is reported constantly becoming more acute in spite of enlistment of 4,500,000 new workers since the start of the war.

In recent weeks there has been an intensification of German efforts to recruit additional laborers from occupied countries. However, it is reported reliably foreign workers are showing more reluctance to go to Germany.

The Germans' problem is to expand production at the same time they find it necessary to keep calling up new reinforcements to replace losses on the front in Russia. During the last few weeks three new classes, totaling 700,000 to 800,000 men, have been called to the colors, leaving new places to be filled in industry and agriculture.

Thus far the Germans have replaced those called up by using war prisoners and foreign civilian workers as well as women. At the present time it is northern Queensland. All the troops have put in longer training in the jungle country they are fighting in than even the sixth division did in desert country. Parties of Japanese attempting infiltration tactics now are learning this to their cost.

There is no thought of further withdrawal. Every man is determined to hit the enemy hard and unexpectedly and while he is pausing from the initial shock to hit him again and again without let-up.

WITH CHINS UP

"My men are going in with their chins up," Maj. Gen. Bennett told Fitchell. "They know as I know that the task in front of them is hard, but they don't fear and they'll do it. They are up against an enemy they despise and hate and they know every trick he has tried. The Japs are getting the hardest blow they've had in this war to date and there's lots more coming to them. Every move they make from now on is one which will be countered by Australians who can outmaneuver, outfight and outwit them. Hang on we must and hang on we will."

As the Australians neared their new line they met British and Indian troops. For five weeks these men had been fighting the most difficult of all actions—withdrawal under never-ceasing enemy pressure. Their tired and drawn faces lighted up as they passed through the long lines of the fresh Australian troops. It was obvious they had not heard of any such relief.

STORY YET UNTOLD

It will be a long time before the true story of the loss of the greater part of Malaya is told, but it can be said with certainty that these famous regiments—both Indian and British—have acquitted themselves well and the A.I.F. is the first to admit it. More than anything the sight of these troops has determined them to act as a buffer while these exhausted men get their rest.

The Japs will soon know that Maj. Gen. Gordon Bennett, reported by the Japs to have been captured, is very much alive, according to a characteristic cable is estimated there are about 2,000,000 foreign laborers in Germany, 1,500,000 war prisoners and perhaps 1,000,000 women workers who before the war were not employed.

The situation would be relieved to some extent, observers say, when hundreds of thousands of Russian prisoners are put to work, but the problem will not be solved because the greatest shortage is in skilled labor.

The situation is reflected in the increasing number of want ads seeking workers.

The Frankfurter Zeitung in recent months has carried six to eight pages of these ads.

The need for every available worker is indicated by such decrees as the one issued by the German labor ministry requiring workers to make up time lost during the Christmas and New Year's holidays by working overtime without additional pay.

Another decree provided that only absolutely necessary street cleaning be done. This applies especially to snow removal.

Gen. Bennett sent Army Minister Forde in Melbourne.

"I'm alive and fit in command of forces covering the western sector with British, Indian and Australian troops under my command," Maj. Gen. Bennett wired the Army Minister. "Now in action and in contact with the enemy. Our troops are eager for the fight. I trust the enemy will soon realize I'm alive."

INITIAL PAYMENT ON FURNITURE CUT

OTTAWA (CP)—Reduction in the down payment on furniture, announced by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, applies to all Canada, board officials say.

Under the new regulations, the down payment on installment sales of furniture, including beds, mattresses and springs, has been reduced from one-third to 10 per cent.

There will be an absolute minimum down payment of $5, and the balance of the purchase price must be paid in not more than 12 months at a rate not less than $5 a month—or $1 a week if weekly payments are arranged.

The change will take effect from coast to coast Jan. 19.

Federal Funds For Auxiliaries

OTTAWA (CP) — Likelihood

was seen here today that the Dominion government, which exercises supervision over national voluntary war service, would decide payments for most of them should be made by the Dominion treasury rather than collected from the public.

This would mean their work would be financed by the Dominion government and voluntary public support of the war effort financially would be concentrated in such activities as war loans and savings.

One certain exception from such a revised arrangement is the Canadian Red Cross, for which voluntary support has always been forthcoming in large measure in peace or war.

War Services Minister Thorson announced recently arrangements had been made for the national auxiliary war service organizations and the Red Cross to combine in a joint drive for funds in the spring of this year. It was estimated the objective in the drive would be from $17,000,000 to $20,000,000.

A factor entering into considerations of having payments to organizations made from the treasury is understood to be that there is the possibility of wide-spread campaigns interfering with the War Victory Loan to be launched in February. Some authorities support the belief all possible funds should be made available through war loans and taxation and then distributed as required for the national effort.

List at Salonika

ISTANBUL (AP) — An informed Axis source just returned from Greece has told friends that Field Marshal Sigmund List, who commanded the German forces when they overran the Balkans, reappeared at Salonika recently after an absence during which he underwent an operation for appendicitis.

List's absence had stirred rumors that he had disappeared and that his friends were concerned for his safety. This source said he had seen him as recently as 10 days ago in Salonika, where he again took over command of German forces in the south.

Victoria's Last Son

Duke of Connaught, 91, Dies at Bagshot Park

LONDON (CP) — His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught, K.G., 91, last surviving son of Queen Victoria and Canada's Governor-General from 1911 to 1916, died today at Bagshot Park, Surrey.

The end of the duke's long career as a soldier and statesman came as a surprise to the public although he had been in failing health for some time. His last official appearance was at the christening of Prince William, son of the Duke and Duchess of Gloucester, who was born last Dec. 18.

For some time the duke's daughter, Lady Patricia Ramsay, had been living with him at Bagshot Park on account of his poor health.

The King and Queen and other members of the Royal Family were immediately advised of their kinsman's death. His Majesty is considering the question of court mourning. It was stated.

His death leaves Princess Beatrice, seven years his junior, as the last survivor of Queen Victoria's nine children.

The duke would have been 92 May 1. One of his last official duties was a few days before his 91st birthday when he inspected at Aldershot two regiments of the Canadian overseas army. He was their colonel-in-chief.

Of all the members of the Royal Family the duke of Connaught's associations with Canada were perhaps the closest. As a soldier he served under Garnet Wolseley in putting down the Canadian northwest rebellion in 1870. Twenty years later he visited the Dominion and in 1911 he became Governor-General.

(Several times during his tenure of office at Ottawa, the Duke of Connaught, accompanied by his duchess visited Victoria. He officially opened the Provincial Library and Archive in September, 1912. He made his final visit to Victoria in the autumn of 1916, staying at Government House, where at the time the late Sir Frank Barnard and Lady Barnard were in residence.)

The title descends to his grandson, the 27-year-old Earl of MacDuff, who is also the heir of his mother, the Duchess of Fife, who holds the title in her own right.

The career of the Duke of Connaught (pronounced "Connet") and Strathearn spanned four generations of British royalty and touched five reigns.

At the first of the many ceremonies of his long life—his christening—the same Duke of Wellington who conquered Napoleon Bonaparte held him in his arms as sponsor. The infant prince was baptized "Arthur" in honor of the victor of Waterloo.

The babe, born to a queen, on May 1, 1850, lived to see his elder brother become Edward VII, his nephew take the throne as George V and his great-nephews reign as Edward VIII and George VI.

He was Queen Victoria's third son and the seventh of her nine children. To her he was always "darling Arthur."

Canadians had several opportunities to see him at close range between October 14, 1911, and October 16, 1916, when he served as Governor-General of Canada, the first British prince to hold an overseas post of this calibre.

Shortly after his tenure began at Ottawa, he made his only visit to the United States, unofficially and unaccompanied, to "see the sights of New York." He was accompanied by the duchess and their popular daughter, "Princess Patricia."

From the time of his birth it seemed likely that H.R.H. Prince Arthur William Patrick Albert might become the heir to his father's family, rulers of the German dukedom of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha, but when the time came for him to take this place, upon the death of his heirless elder brother, Duke Albert, in 1899, he locked himself in a room for several hours, emerging to announce that neither he nor his younger son would accept the tempting prize. The decision so strained relations between the royal families of Germany and England that they never fully recovered.

Twice again refusals were within his grasp. In 1915 he was approached with a proposal that he become monarch of Czechoslovakia. He squelched this plan

LATE DUKE OF CONNAUGHT

Pat" and after several days in Manhattan went to Washington and called on President Taft.

Primarily the duke was a soldier. He entered the military academy at Woolwich when only 16, and served virtually every branch of Britain's land forces. As a junior officer he had a share in the skirmishes which accompanied the 1870 Fenian raid from United States soil into Canada, but his real baptism of fire came in the Egyptian war of 1882. At the decisive battle, the storming of Tel-el-Kebir, he commanded the guards' brigade.

MISSUS HIGH COMMAND

The next year he was sent as a major-general to India. Later he became lieutenant governor of Bombay and remained in the east until 1890. For the next 10 years he held important military posts at home. He was aiming to become commander-in-chief of the army but was passed over twice. Lord Wolseley getting the post in 1895 and Lord Roberts taking it in 1901. The duke succeeded "Bobs" as commander of the forces in Ireland and was in Dublin from 1900 to 1904.

Created a field marshal in 1902, he became first inspector-general of the armed forces in 1904 and in 1907 went to Malta as chief of the troops stationed in the Mediterranean area. But he found this post "not active enough" and quit it in 1909 over the objection of King Edward, who recorded that he was "much annoyed at his brother's persistent obstinacy."

The duke returned to England after his years in Canada to plunge into activities connected with the World War. He inspected replacements, visited the western front, especially the "Princess Pats" of the Canadian forces, and helped establish social centres for men on leave from the trenches.

In the midst of these duties the health of his wife failed. She died March 14, 1917.

CRONE'S ADVICE

The duke was christened Arthur William Patrick Albert, the first name for the Duke of Wellington on whose natal day he was born, the second for his mother's predecessor on the throne and the fourth for his father, the prince consort of Victoria. The selection of Patrick as the third name was explained by Queen Victoria as the result of a visit she and Prince Albert made to Ireland in 1849. As the royal party was driving through a dense crowd, an old beggar woman forced her way to the front and cried:

"Oh, Queen, dear! Call the next one Prince Patrick and all Ireland will die for ye!"

When the prince was born the following spring, the advice of the crone was heeded.

From the time of his birth it seemed likely that H.R.H. Prince Arthur William Patrick Albert might become the heir to his father's family, rulers of the German dukedom of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha, but when the time came for him to take this place, upon the death of his heirless elder brother, Duke Albert, in 1899, he locked himself in a room for several hours, emerging to announce that neither he nor his younger son would accept the tempting prize. The decision so strained relations between the royal families of Germany and England that they never fully recovered.

VICHY EMBASSIES NAZI 5TH COLUMN

LONDON (CP) — Raymond Offroy, who served in the Vichy French diplomatic service for 19 months but now is allied with the Free French cause, charged today that Admiral Jean Darlan used the Vichy diplomatic corps as a "fifth column" and espionage organization for Germany and Italy.

The accusations appear in a 15-page booklet in which Offroy stresses particularly his experiences in Greece, where he was acting consul-general at Athens until May, 1941.

He said the Vichy embassy there sent to France information concerning military installations in Port Volo, later used as a British troop-landing point.

"Three days after the transmission of this information to Vichy," Offroy asserted, "the Italian air force bombed the exact area which had been indicated by our military attaché."

He and other French officials, he said, were instructed to find out all they could about British plans for operations in Greece. "Then, at the beginning of April," he declared, "I learned in a way which cannot be divulged that all the information I had communicated to Vichy had been brought to the knowledge of Berlin."

Offroy concluded with the statement that he had "every reason to believe" his was not an isolated case but merely an indication of the efforts Hitler is making "to transform France's foreign representatives into unwitting collaborators of his fifth column."

U.S. Builds Port On Persian Gulf

The Duke of Connaught

QUEEN VICTORIA'S THIRD SON, HIS Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught, was not only a Field Marshal in his own right by virtue of a distinguished and active military career; he was also a statesman possessed of a rare store of tact and sound judgment, to which his fine record of diplomatic service in various parts of the British Empire bears compelling witness. During his incumbency of Rideau Hall at Ottawa, which included more than two years of the first Great War period, he learned a great deal about Canada by personal contact with her people in his journeys about the Dominion, and by the intensive application of an inherent desire to become thoroughly proficient in everything he undertook. Few men since the Victorian era began have filled the dual role of brilliant soldier and able pro-consul with such a complete absence of criticism as did the man whose end came today at the age of 91. Canadians will remember him as the kindly and dignified Governor-General whose ease of manner and patently democratic demeanor endeared him to them and won him popular acclaim. His selection to perform the opening ceremony of the first Parliament of the Union of South Africa in 1910—only eight years after Boer and Briton agreed on the Peace terms at Vereeniging—was an excellent one. As the brother of King Edward VII, a democrat himself, the political leaders of the former enemy state felt in his presence on such a memorable occasion a new concept of Empire responsibility and the progressive evolutionary processes it foreshadowed. The Duke witnessed at close range Canada's growth to nationhood, her emergence as a full-fledged and equal partner in the Commonwealth, and in his declining years he had watched a repetition of her loyal collaboration in another test of Empire solidarity. This must have given him much consolation. Canadians especially, then, honor the memory of the man who proved himself a noble son of a great Queen.

Argentina Changing?

HOPE IS EXPRESSED IN RIO DE Janeiro that Argentina may succumb to the influence which is being brought to bear on her and join the rest of the 20 American republics and sever all relations with the Axis powers. As this is written, reports indicate that the representatives of this most important of all the Latin nations south of the Rio Grande do not relish the idea of a charge that she is, either by word or deed, giving aid and comfort to the enemy. Not that she is, of course, for she has instructed her delegation to this important gathering in the Brazilian capital merely to act "in accordance with the principles which Argentina has always upheld in its international policies." Before this is read, perhaps, she will have made her contribution to the overwhelming desire on the part of her neighbors near and far, to present a solid hemispheric bloc determined to play a full part in eliminating the Nazi tyranny for all time.

Nazi propaganda, of course, has been carried on intensively and systematically in the Argentine ever since Hitler rose to power in 1933. It undoubtedly has had its effect on government policy. German news services for the press, and pictures and films of all kinds, are distributed free. The Frankfurter Zeitung, for example, issues a special South American edition which has arrived regularly by airplane. In its initial stages, enemy publicity had several aims. First, to encourage young Argentines in their nationalism, telling them that Germany has been through the same fight, and therefore has great sympathy. Secondly, to persuade the public that a German victory would bring economic advantages, and the end of United States and British financial influence. Thirdly, to make trouble between the United States and the Argentine by suggesting that the good neighbor policy is a cover for Imperialistic designs—and, finally, for bringing South America into this war of the continents.

Admittedly, the Argentine's political and economic position is difficult. Her agricultural wealth is great, but she lacks raw materials which she has to purchase abroad from countries to which she normally sells. Her largest markets were Great Britain, the United States, and Germany. Owing to the war, trade with Britain and Germany is exceedingly difficult, while our neighbor on the south is charged with eliminating Argentine products to increase her own agricultural output and cattle raising. The men in charge at Buenos Aires have smarted under this process, and while a recently negotiated trade agreement has ameliorated the situation, it has not cured the trouble. And Nazi propaganda has lost no opportunity of telling the Argentines that after the war—and some believe it—the United States will make matters more difficult. But there is every reason to believe that the great bulk of the people of the Argentine have seen through much of the Goebbelsian publicity. Mr. Sumner Welles has reminded the conference delegates of the perils of "neutrality."

It Is Not Cricket

WAGE WAR WITH "COMPLETE AND constant ruthlessness" is the advice given to Britons by Captain H. H. Balfour, Parliamentary Under-Secretary for Air, in a speech in London on Tuesday. He wants "a scrapping of the squeamishness and 'it's not cricket' attitude in dealing with our opponents." This kind of talk would appear to be long overdue. And it was Mr. Roosevelt who said that a tiger cannot be converted into a cat by stroking it.

The world has witnessed Germany's method of warfare, during her progressive military victories, in the territory she has occupied, and, more recently, in the shape of reprisals against thousands of folk in the countries she has enslaved. We have now learned what Japan proposes to do to anybody or everybody in the Philippines who appears to show the slightest displeasure at her conduct.

Mr. Churchill promised in his speech before the United States Congress that if the enemy wants to get tough, "we can get tough, too." The fact that an official in his government's family has now publicly demanded that Britons scrap their squeamishness, and employ some, at least, of the Axis brand of ruthlessness, should be notice to Hitler and his gang that totalitarianism must expect no quarter from now on.

Adolf's Job Now

GERMANY'S HIGH COMMAND APPARENTLY has confirmed reports that numerous changes in personnel have taken place on the eastern front since Hitler took over supreme command of the Nazi armies. Authorities in Berlin, however, refuse to list them for tactical reasons. This follows the observation of a German spokesman only a few days ago that an announcement would be made "at a suitable time" and would "not be determined by foreign propaganda."

The inference that "foreign propaganda" has had or could have anything to do with German strategy in the military or political field is both significant and amusing at this stage. Hitler cuts a still more grotesque figure when he permits his propagandist department to give the public such an impression. What is clear now, of course, is the division of opinion between the Fuehrer and those who tried to influence strategy. Hitler's plan was to launch one offensive after another against the Soviet Union until complete victory had been achieved. His speeches and the Goebbelsian propaganda had poured scorn on the suggestion that if Russia was not decisively beaten before the cold weather ensued, operations would have to cease. The abandonment of the original plan through the sheer force of circumstances—over which Russia assumed complete control—has not only shocked the German people but has also stiffened the back of that element in the military hierarchy which, apparently, remembers what happened to another former corporal in the early years of the last century.

The outside world, therefore, can extract what humor it likes from a tragic situation when it notes the infantile admission that Hitler's high command's "readjustments" have not been or will be at any time in the future influenced by "foreign propaganda." People of the United Nations are quite content to watch the antics of Generalissimo Adolf Hitler as he tries to extricate himself from the mess of his own making—on the eastern front and at home.

Force and Faith

CYNICAL VOLTAIRE IS GENERALLY given the credit for saying that "God is always on the side of the heaviest battalions." Napoleon is said to have declared that "Providence is always on the side of the last reserve." Leaving the theological aspect out of consideration for the moment, Libya and the British Commando raid on Vaagsoe Island suggest that the Germans are not invincible when confronted with an equal or even an inferior force. Our neighbor's performance at Wake Island and that of the brave men at Hongkong suggest that valor has not run out of British and American veins. But this country's and our neighbor's job now is to provide that superior weight in armament and men which will guarantee victory. We can say without rolling our eyes that the Supreme Being and the Right are on our side; what we must develop is force such as to evidence our faith in both.

BONUS, NOT DOLE

From Cowichan Leader
Old-age pensions have been brought to the fore in the Legislature. The veteran Independent member at Ottawa, A. W. Neill of Port Alberni, recently explained, in a newspaper article, how the intent of the governing pensions has been hampered by the rules set up by the B.C. Workmen's Compensation Board, which administers the act.

It seems to us that all haggling and suffering would be avoided if this pension were looked upon as it should be, namely as a help in old age given by Canada to her citizens. Whether or not those citizens have other means should not be taken into consideration. The pension is not a dole. Receipt of it should not entail endless investigation into private affairs.

The present system means the payment of a large staff which could be almost entirely eliminated. The saving thus would offset some of the increased sums which pensions would then cost. It would also mean the release of men and women for work of more value to the country.

If there be one payment which should be shown as much as possible of officialdom it is the doleage pension. If there be one which should be increased in accordance with increased cost of living, the answer is the same.

Editorial Diary

MARRIED MEN REALLY DO LIVE LONGER

AN OLD JOKE says that a married man doesn't really live longer than a single man—it only seems longer. But he really does, according to the statistical bulletin of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, which offers proof.

The industrial experience of that company, for example, shows that 19.1 per cent of all deaths among single males at ages 20 to 24 are caused by tuberculosis, but only 11.4 per cent of the deaths among married men of those ages. Alcoholism and cirrhosis of the liver take more victims among single men. The married, these statistics show, are less liable to death by accident than single men, and more single men than married take their own lives. Pneumonia and influenza find more victims among those who travel alone.

To the Ottawa Journal the explanation is obvious—the married man takes better care of his health, if not voluntarily then under certain domestic pressure. He is reminded of his rubbers and umbrella, and told when to put on his winter underwear. If a cold persists he has to do something about it, and a persistent ailment means a doctor. The married man, generally speaking, lives less dangerously, and he has a sense of responsibility to his family which tends to discourage taking chances with his health and life.

THE WORLD'S WORST POET

A BBC SPEAKER told his British audience the other day that William MacGonagall, a Scottish bard who flourished some three-score years ago, was "acknowledged to be the world's worst poet." MacGonagall, he said, wrote odes and epigrams and elegies and heroics and published a volume of Selected Works from which the speaker read choice bits. It was in Dundee, in 1877, MacGonagall himself wrote, that he discovered he was a poet. "I felt," he wrote, "a kind of feeling coming over me, and a diving flame came up and said 'Write'."

So he wrote this, for example: "Ye sons of Britain I think no shame To write in praise of brave General Graham, Whose name will be handed down to posterity without any stigma Because at the battle of El Teb he defeated Osman Digna."

Another specimen was quoted: "O thou Demon Drink, thou fell destroyer, The curse of society and its greatest annoy, What hast thou done to society, let me think? I answer thou hast caused most of its ills, thou Demon Drink."

Now that is pretty bad poetry, but when the claim is made for its author that he is the world's worst poet we here in Ontario must enter a protest.

It is clear that the BBC hasn't heard of our own James McIntyre, the celebrated cheese poet of Ingersoll, Ontario. McIntyre wrote in the same period of MacGonagall and published two books. He wrote such verses as these:

"And the ladies dress in silk,
From the proceeds of the milk,
But those who buy their butter,
How dear it is, they mutter."

MacGonagall rhymes "shame" and "Graham," but listen to McIntyre:

"There came to Oxford Robert Gourlay,
In his old age his health was poorly;
He was a relic of the past,
In his dotage sinking fast,
Yet he was erect and tall
Like noble ruined castle wall."

Against such competition the Bard of Dundee is nothing but an also-ran.

CORRUPTING THE KIPPER

OF ALL BRITISH INSTITUTIONS, the kipper is one of the most hallowed. This is not a jest. The kipper is really something Englishmen and Scotsmen will fight for whenever its status or its quality is threatened.

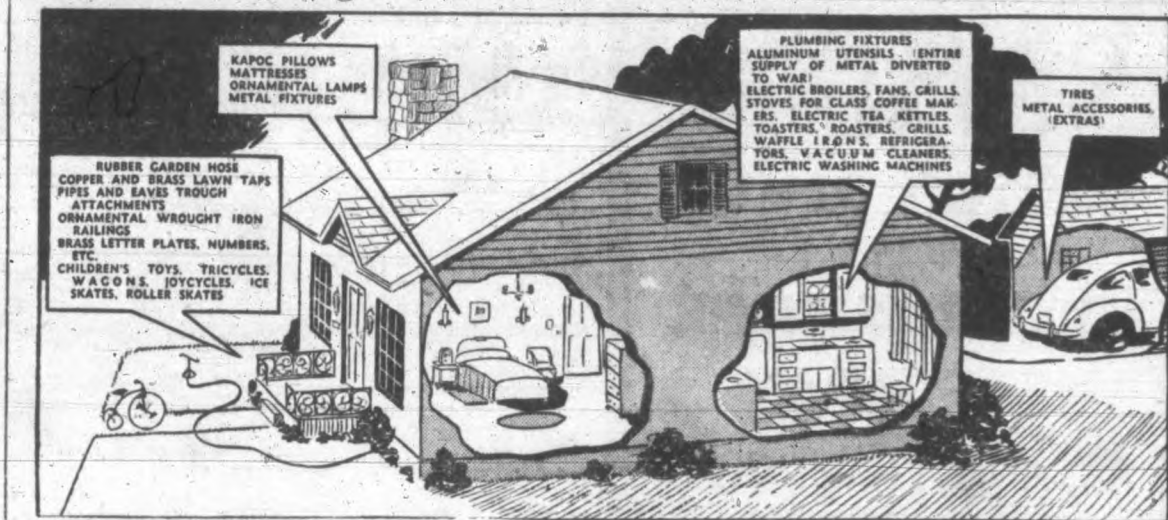

Recent British newspapers disclose that a considerable portion of the population of the United Kingdom is outraged at a discovery just made. It was made almost by accident. It is that modern British kippers have been dyed instead of smoked. The story, according to the Ottawa Citizen, goes something like this:

Last September the government of the Isle of Man passed a law forbidding the dyeing of kippers. At once a million Englishmen raised their eyebrows and wanted to know what the implications of this law were. The Manx law-makers replied that they had discovered that curers of herrings had been dipping these fish in brown dye to make believe they had been smoked in oak smoke, as they always had been from time immemorial.

This disturbing revelation outraged the Englishmen, now joined by Scots, to ask if kippers cured on the mainland were similarly dyed instead of being oak-smoked. The Ministry of Food, driven to making a statement, replied apologetically that, yes, it was true that kippers "smoked" in Scotland and England were actually dyed, and had been for some years.

Pandemonium broke loose. Seizing pens and paper, Pro Bono Publico, Constant Reader, Veritas and even Old Harrovian began bombarding the hapless editors of the daily press with angry demands for an end to such a gross mistreatment of no noble a product as the kipper. One writer said that the kipper had come down from Anglo-Saxon times, that it was the most delectable item "these islands" had ever produced, and that to dye instead of smoke them was a piece of vandalism unheard of. And that is the last we heard of the matter. No wonder there are rumors of shake-ups in Britain!

These Are Things You'll Have to Do Without

This drawing illustrates some of the places where wartime restrictions on metals and other materials strike home to the average Canadian householder. Some of the items enumerated here, such as automobile tires, have already been withdrawn from sale; others are no longer being manufactured and will be unavailable when present stocks are exhausted. Still others will cease being manufactured because factories will be unable to obtain materials; all are under restrictions of one kind or another in the interests of a total war effort.

Barring None

Individual Rediscovered

From New York Post
Mr. Leon Henderson's plan to let neighborhood boards decide who shall be allowed to buy a new tire and who shall not opens all kinds of doors into the future. This is better than rationing. Rationing distributes tickets impartially, but senselessly, giving them to those who do not need them with the same even hand as to those who do. This is neighborhood priorities; the doctor's car, the salesman's car, the car used by the farmer carrying food to market, will be "reached" before the car that merely rambles for fun.

This is freedom in its highest form. Freedom is not only the sacred right to make monkey noises in public; it is, more importantly, the right of self-rule; and this is it, down in the neighborhood, by the neighbors.

The air raid wardens' organization is more of the same. Neighborhoods will be defended well or poorly depending on how the people who live in them work at it. Oddly enough, the invention of the newest instruments of war has restored the individual's responsibility for self-defense. The age of exquisite organization drives us back to the values of the day when safety depended on the squirrel-gun above the fireplace.

Mankind is having its revenge on the superorganizers at last; in this, the time of the faceless blitz, we are forced to rediscover the individual.

Britain to set against administrative charges.

WANT TO PAY CANADA

From London Express
Parents of children evacuated to Canada under the official scheme are urging the government to let them contribute to the cost of board and lodging, or, at least, to send occasional pocket money. At present these children depend on the generosity of their Canadian hosts, who have to provide food, a certain amount of clothing, all pocket money and minor medical attendances. Yet the parents are paying the same evacuation fees as are paid for children evacuated in this country. This money is kept in

Red Cross Units Review Splendid Year's Work

A cash contribution of $2,463.75, together with approximately 3,000 articles of clothing for the armed services, civil defence workers and hospital supplies, was handed in to the Canadian Red Cross headquarters by the Oak Bay unit last year.

This was revealed in the reports presented at the annual meeting held Thursday night. Of the money raised, children in Oak Bay public, private and high schools supplied $581.65 of the total, while the activities of the unit itself supplied $1,486.84. The blanket fund accounted for $100.20, post-a-penny cards for $28.08, and memberships $56. Of the total receipts of the unit, $780.78 came from the entertainment committee.

Capt. F. G. Dexter, the president, in thanking the many who had assisted in the work, noted that $4,000 of Willowbrook Monterey Schools had contributed to date between $7,000 and $8,000 to the war effort, and $200 to the Queen Elizabeth Fund.

During the year the unit knitted 2,230 garments for the navy, army and air force, and 454 for civil defence workers, not including children's garments. Mrs. W. Hulme told the members in reading the wool convener's report submitted by Mrs. M. B. Pratt.

The Oak Bay unit, at the request of the Victoria Women's Workroom Committee, took over work for the British civilian defence workers in midsummer. Mrs. P. F. Curtis, convener, reported, and the work is now well under way with a high standard being maintained.

Group reports were given by Mrs. H. C. V. Macdonald, and the entertainment report by Mrs. A. C. Raven.

Reeve W. L. Woodhouse was elected honorary president and the whole executive were re-elected by acclamation, as follows: Capt. F. G. Dexter, president; R. R. Taylor, vice-president; Mrs. P. F. Curtis, convener; and Mrs. W. Hulme, treasurer; executive committee, Mrs. H. C. V. Macdonald, Mrs. C. Nevill, Mrs. W. Ellis, Mrs. M. P. Pratt and Miss Curry; Mrs. H. Beavan, president of the entertainment committee, and Mrs. Agatha C. Raven, secretary-treasurer.

Col. R. S. Worsley, honorary secretary of the Victoria branch, Reeve Woodhouse and Archdeacon Nunns paid tribute to the work of the unit, and the reeve specially thanked the schoolchildren for their splendid contribution.

COLUMBIA UNIT

The annual meeting of the Columbia Unit Society was held at the home of Mrs. J. Greenwood, Burnside Road, Wednesday afternoon, with 17 workers present.

The convener, Mrs. E. G. Alcock, spoke of what had been accomplished during the year and of the splendid way in which everyone had worked in harmony, and hoped that in the coming year a special effort would be made for the furtherance of this work, which has for its object the betterment of the human condition. She thanked all who had in any way helped with the work of the unit.

In giving the secretary's report, Mrs. T. W. Hall enumerated the outstanding events of the year, and stated $240 had been turned over to the Red Cross. This sum was raised by means of membership fees, subscriptions, teas and sales, a garden party and a dance.

The treasurer, Mrs. C. A. Berry, presented a detailed account, and it was especially noteworthy that the expenditure was exceedingly low.

In the election of officers Mrs. F. Stacey was appointed convener, Mrs. T. W. Hall and Mrs. C. A. Berry retained the offices of secretary and treasurer respectively, and Mrs. J. Mc N. Patterson consented to carry on with the supervision of the sewing.

The work finished during the year and which was reported as very well done was as follows: 512 knitted garments, 634 sewn articles, 23 dozen handkerchiefs; donations acknowledged were 4 afghans, 2 quilts, 12 cloths, 2 dolls, a cushion and a firescreen. Miss Seymour, reporting for the first aid classes to be formed under the direction of the A.R.P., announced a meeting would be held in the Marigold Hall Monday at 8 p.m. All interested were asked to attend.

Mrs. Greenwood served tea and invited the members to hold the February meeting at her home.

Prima Donna of Old Russia Dies in B.C.

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—Dame Maria Karinska, 56, famous prima donna and imperial court singer of Russia under the late Czar Nicholas, will be buried Saturday in nearby Burquitlam in Russian costume.

Dame Karinska, who came here 12 years ago from England, died of a heart attack.

Born in the Ural Mountains, the daughter of a famous Cossack official of the imperial forces, Dame Karinska was a singer in the Imperial Theatre of Moscow before she was 25. She made numerous appearances before the Czar and sang for other royal families of Europe, of China and Persia.

She was given the title dame by the Czar for her work during the last war when she sang at concerts for Russian troops. The International Red Cross Society awarded her a life membership. A witness of the Russian revolution, she was smuggled out of the country in a casket and later made her way to England. She was a composer of note and wrote a number of Russian folk songs.

The Venture Club met Wednesday evening in the Scollard Building, the president, Miss Janet Graham, in the chair. Tentative arrangements were made for an organ recital to be given early in February. A theatre party has been arranged for members for Friday, Jan. 30.

Board Meets Teachers In Closed Session

Twenty-five teachers, representing the Saanich Teachers' Association, discussed salary revision with board members at a closed meeting of the Saanich School Board Wednesday night. No action was taken on the discussion, the meeting not being a regular one, but the matter will receive thorough airing at the next meeting of the board Wednesday.

The teachers asked for the same salaries received before a cut was made in 1931-32.

The board was agreed that some revisions were necessary, especially in the lower salary brackets.

The matter of overcrowding in the schools was also discussed, but action was deferred to a later meeting of the board.

Mrs. MacInnis

Against Stirring Race Hatred

Mrs. Grace MacInnis, C.C.F., Vancouver-Burrard, making her maiden speech in the Legislature Thursday, expressed relief the people of Canada are "completely deaf to the cries of race hatred that are now going up."

Racial hatreds should not be stirred up as a substitute for giving the Canadian people a real goal for democracy, Mrs. MacInnis said.

"Our group in the Legislature has no intention of lending ourselves to this system of race hatreds, or any other Nazi-inspired hatreds," Mrs. MacInnis said. "If the people of Canada too did not feel that way we might just as well call off this war now. The people of Canada, we feel, are fighting this war so that democracy might be born."

Mrs. MacInnis advocated broadcasts from the Legislature as a means of bringing to the people of the province something of what the legislators do in Victoria.

C.C.F. Herbert Gargrave said this might be a shock to the people.

SOCIAL JUSTICE

Mrs. MacInnis pleaded for social justice for all as a means of building civilian morale, which she termed as important as necessary military defence.

"The building and maintenance and extending of civilian morale is the main job of the British Columbia government," she said. "The real patriots in Canada are those people who point out the weak spots and show how these spots can be improved. Until we can bring more equality of sacrifice it is all a waste of breath to talk about more efficiency in our war effort. We are out to make equality of sacrifice concrete and something very definite. Our aim is to take the mock out of democracy, to make democracy real."

"I would like to ask if this government is on the side of the Melghens and the Huntley Drummonds (president of the Bank of Montreal) or if it is on the side of the Bevins and the Morrisons?"

Mrs. MacInnis asked for a balanced and more adequate diet for the people of British Columbia.

"This is no time to talk of food curtailment—we must plan full crops next summer—we must take control of food and food agencies that are now being run so ruthlessly in private hands. You say, 'where is the money to come from?'—I say, where is the money coming from for the war—food and diet are just as important as planes and guns and tanks—civilian morale will not crack if you place it on a sound basis of social security and justice."

Mrs. MacInnis crossed with Mr. L. H. Eyres, Conservative, Chilliwack, when she asked if the coalitionists spoke for their government, as C.C.F. leaders did for their group.

Mr. Eyres said her question showed the C.C.F. was run by a body, whereas the coalitionists were free to get up and say exactly what they chose.

Mrs. MacInnis said this pointed out the "I.I.L." attitude of the old-line parties, where the members stood out like sore thumbs, and showed there was no planing.

Herridge Objects To Vichy Man

Presence of a diplomatic representative of Vichy France in Canada was objected to in the Legislature Thursday by Herbert Herridge, C.C.F., Rossland-Trail, in his maiden speech.

"The continued recognition of the Vichy representative at Ottawa is a continuation of the policy of appeasement," he said. "When one realizes that the representative of a foreign power and his staff are entitled to diplomatic immunity, is it any wonder that large numbers of people in this country are looking forward to the day when this subservient partner of Nazi Germany is told to pack his bags and return home?"

Making an appeal for increased old age pensions, Mr. Herridge said "these efforts under capitalism are only palliatives on the abuse of capitalism. I am of the opinion we will have to take a strong constitutional tonic to increase the number of red corpuscles in the body politic, before our social services will be in any way satisfactory."

Had Canada conscripted materials at the beginning of the war, Hitler would have had less nickel and Japan less metal and other essential war supplies, Mr. Herridge said.

"We can learn a lesson from the Soviet Union, where a total war effort has enabled them to successfully resist the greatest military machine in history and to now commence its piecemeal destruction," Mr. Herridge said.

"This is only possible because the profit motive does not enter into their economy. They are, therefore, able to have a complete co-ordination of effort and to make rapid adjustment to changing war conditions. As a constant friend of the Soviet Union throughout the dreary years of capitalist suspicion and intrigue, and in some cases, socialist misunderstanding, I look forward to the day when Soviet achievements will be generally recognized and will be the spur for large-scale planning in Canada."

Don't Obstruct Convoys, Police Chief Warns

Police Chief J. A. McLellan warned motorists, motorcyclists and cyclists Wednesday it is unlawful to drive through or obstruct a naval, military or air force convoy of trucks or other vehicles on city streets or highways.

"We have had numerous complaints about convoys being disrupted," the chief said. "Any person driving through such a line of vehicles is liable on conviction to a fine not exceeding $100."

ROYAL OAK

An exhibit of work was displayed at the Royal Oak Red Cross tea held Thursday afternoon in the Community Hall. Mesdames J. W. Harrison, J. Oliver and H. Smulshaw were conveners. During the afternoon the annual meeting was held with Mrs. W. Barton in the chair. Officers elected were: President, Mrs. W. Barton; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. L. R. ### Asks Protection For White Farmer

Mr. L. H. Eyres, Cons., Chilliwack, in the Legislature Thursday asked the government to pass legislation necessary to protect the white farmer.

He read a resolution from the Matsqui municipal council asking that Japanese be disallowed to purchase any more farm land, rent any more farm land or buy or rent farm crops until harvested.

"We have one job to do that transcends all others and that is to win the war," Mr. Eyres said. "We must stop all political shadow boxing. We must plan a closely co-ordinated Dominion-Provincial war effort. We must plan now for the rehabilitation of our soldiers and workers after the war is won. We must never forget that we must also win the peace. Our people must be given a chance of gainful employment. We must have a chance to find happiness and security in this Canada of ours."

Of old age pensions Mr. Eyres said "surely we all agree that the present arrangements are not good enough. Surely we all realize that this pension is not for relief, but that it is a reward for services rendered. I ask this government to pay these pensioners a bonus for the immediate future and at once co-operate with the federal government to formulate a Dominion-wide pensions act."

He asked that pensioners, permanently be paid $1 a day, starting at 65, medical attendance and that pensioners' children should not be liable for parents' support.

Mr. Eyres asked the Minister of Agriculture to help keep the bulb industry in British Columbia. Unless some action is taken, he said, the bulb market will go back to Holland after the war.

Wider Co-operation

MELBOURNE (AP)—Arrangements will probably be made for each of Australia's allies to have either a representative on or free access to the federal planning committee which will facilitate and expedite co-operation between Australia and her allies in the Pacific war zone, it was officially announced here.

Retail Merchants Ask A.R.P. Action

Still awaiting a reply from Mayor Andrew McGavin and Capt. Wm. Ellis, chief warden of the Victoria Civil Protection committee, to their offer of store basements as first-aid stations for A.R.P. emergencies, the retail merchants' section of the Chamber of Commerce decided Thursday to send a committee to interview Commissioner T. W. Parsons of the B.C. Police on the matter.

The offer of store basements was made on Dec. 17 when a special committee of the merchants visited the City Hall seeking action on A.R.P. matters. At that time they asked a ruling on uniform store lighting after dark and for arrangements to allow merchants to pass through A.R.P. lines to reach their stores during blackouts. In reply to their representations Mayor McGavin and Capt. Ellis promised to look into the matter and let the merchants know their findings.

Home Nursing Classes Extended

To meet the many requests for instruction in home nursing, arrangements have been made to hold two additional classes to those advertised last week, which are already filled.

The two new classes will be held in room 230, Pemberton Building, on Wednesday, at 2.30 and at 8. The first classes to be held on Jan. 21.

Those wishing to enroll are asked to register at Red Cross headquarters, 705 Courtney Street. The fee is $1, which includes the cost of the manual, and must be paid at the time of enrollment. The number in each class is limited to 20.

The course consists of a series of lectures, and covers home nursing and emergencies in war. Miss Creaser, superintendent of the Victorian Order of Nurses, and chairman of the Red Cross Nursing Committee, is making all arrangements with regard to instructions.

The object of these classes is to give elementary training to as many as possible, so that in the event of an emergency they may be able to undertake nursing in the home, or by further training qualify as V.A.D.'s.

Entertain Soldiers

Between theatre appearances Major Edward Bowes' touring amateur unit found time Wednesday to entertain troops stationed at Macaulay Camp. Five hundred soldiers jammed the Y.M.C.A. hut to hear the amateurs and to see Sgt. Paul Michelin's weekly stage show.

The Closson Triplets' three vocal numbers brought yells of approval from the soldiers. Equally well received were the performances of Arthur Mell, impersonator; Jerry Bergman, magician, and 11-year-old Carolyn Argott, singer and tap dancer.

Sgt. Michelin thanked the amateurs for their performances and the audience sang "God Bless America" as the unit left.

Hit-and-Run Commando Troops Kill or Capture Whole Nazi Garrison in Raid on Norwegian Islands

Two days after Christmas, in the darkness of early morning, the crash of bombs and the thunder of naval guns brought the startled Nazi garrison of Vaagso Island, off the coast of Norway, hurriedly out of their beds. It was another raid of the black Commando troops, who have the whole Nazi-held coast of Europe in a state of jitters. Under cover of smoke screens, they landed in the face of German guns on Vaagso and the adjacent island of Maaloy. The entire Maaloy garrison was killed or taken prisoner, a battery of four guns was destroyed, oil tanks and military stores were blown up or set on fire, a wireless station and a Quisling-owned industrial plant was burned to the ground. More than 15,000 tons of enemy shipping was sunk before the Commandos retired, having suffered few casualties. "All along the coast, Norwegians are praying for British landings," said one Norwegian who took part in the raid. The picture at left shows British troops examining one of the German field guns they put out of action; at right, a British soldier with his Bren gun on its tripod stands watch on a hill overlooking Vaagso.

LUFTWAFFE USES 'BUMPER' ON BOMBERS TO COMBAT BARRAGE—So effective has become the balloon barrage which Britain uses around its cities to keep off enemy bombers that even the Nazi Luftwaffe has sacrificed operating efficiency to combat it. This Heinkel bomber, downed in Britain during a raid, carries a "bumper," a strip of metal across the front which protects propellers and engines should the plane fly into the cables of the balloon barrage. The "bumper" is so heavy it greatly reduces the speed of the plane and cuts down heavily on the bomb load. The British have used balloon barrages not only around cities and important military objectives, but also on ship convoys in the English Channel.

These British Women Are 'Angels With Dirty Faces'

From the land came the men to handle the guns, fly the planes and sail the ships of Britain; and to the land go the women to produce and produce those foodstuffs which keep an England at war alive. Margaret Oatley, left, is in the women's land army, an unsung heroine who works from dawn to dusk, whose arms are strong and whose patriotism is deep. As typical of all England as Margaret Oatley are these girls, right, who work in the heavy industries, making the sinews of war.

Russian Ski Troops Ready

A huge ski army from Siberia is ready to launch a "crushing blow" against the reeling Nazi armies in Russia, reports from the Soviet say. Not only infantrymen, but artillerymen, signallers and engineers and their equipment are mounted on skis, and trained especially in night fighting.

THE NEW MARK IV LEE ENFIELD RIFLE with its short, needle-pointed bayonet, now being issued to troops in Britain, is in production at the plant of Small Arms Ltd., near Toronto. In the picture at left, Sgt. J. G. B. Thomson of the Elgin Regiment demonstrates the new weapon at Long Branch Camp, while C.S.M. J. N. White of the Halifax Rifles holds the old type for comparison. At right the two bayonets are shown side by side. The new one is only half the length of the old and is a three-cornered, dagger-type blade instead of the last-war "butcher-knife." It is said to be better for hand-to-hand fighting.

Hundreds of thousands of pairs of snowshoes for the Russian winter campaign are in production. Easy to manufacture, they serve winter Soviet troops well in driving routed Germans along Napoleon's defeat trail.

THIS JAP PLANE WAS A VICTIM OF THE RAID ON PEARL HARBOR. After being soaked in sea water, the wreck of the torpedo bomber was hoisted from the waters of Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, 80, and three young women, Nellie Tupniak, Ethel Pinter and Mabel Killins from a burning house in Port Arthur. The mercury was touching 30 below when firemen carried Mrs. Munro, partially over, flew low over the harbor directing "tin-fish" at the ships of the U.S. fleet, quietly at anchor. The come by asphyxiation, from the lower part of the house and carried the three young women from the second floor.

Deposit Needed On Rent Orders

Judge H. H. Shandley, in County Court Chambers today, served notice of his decision to take strict action to stop alleged "real estate juggling" aimed at defeating provisions of the Rental Control Act.

New purchasers seeking orders to have tenants vacate will be required to leave a deposit of $100 in court to ensure performance of the intention to occupy the premises permanently themselves.

The action was required, he stated, in view of juggling in certain cases.

Under the rent control regulations a purchaser can secure occupation of a home provided he wishes it for his own use and can find other suitable premises for the tenant at the time of purchase.

It had been brought to his attention, Judge Shandley stated, that some purchasers had secured possession on the grounds they needed the premises for their own use and then turned around and rented them to others.

If tenants broke their agreements covering occupancy, the deposit left in court would go to defray costs of moving by the tenant, the judge stated.

ATTACKS SPECULATORS
At today's hearing Judge Shandley also attacked real estate speculators. In one case he learned a man had bought a home for $800 in October and sold it again in November for $1,000. The dealer was applying to court for an order to have the tenant vacate, contending suitable premises had been found for him and his wife elsewhere.

Evidence disclosed the dealer, a relief case, received a rental allowance of $5.50 from the city covering the house. Counsel for the dealer stated the other premises found for him required a rental of $15 a month. Counsel said that the difference could be secured from the city.

Judge Shandley called for affidavits to prove the rental of the proposed rooms was not above that on the basic date and stated no order would be given unless the rental allowance was made up for the relief case.

In two other cases he called upon tenants to be reasonable, reminding them landlords had certain rights in respect to their premises.

He granted an order calling for tenants to vacate to one homeowner who had rented the lower floor of his house to what he thought was a business couple. Instead of two people, half a dozen had moved in, breaking the lease terms.

"He asked for an elderly couple and got a gang downstairs," counsel explained.

MALAHAT WORK COSTS $91,852

Reconstruction of the Malahat highway will cost $91,852, exclusive of engineering costs and culvert pipe supplied by the Department of Public Works in terms of contract, Hon. Herbert Anson, Minister of Public Works, tells Samuel Guthrie, C.C.F., Cowichan-Newcastle, who asked questions about this work.

Dawson, Wade & Company is doing the work and to Jan. 1 the contractor received $56,161, Mr. Anson says.

The work will be completed March 31, circumstances and weather permitting.

Mayhew on Japs, A.R.P. Problem

R. W. Mayhew, M.P., told the Chamber of Commerce luncheon today he would have favored more drastic steps on the British Columbia Japanese problem than those taken by the Ottawa committee this week, but that he was prepared to wait and see if that was a preliminary measure or the full control program.

At another point in his speech he stated Ottawa authorities, including men who had studied civilian protection work in England, had informed him A.R.P. activity was largely a matter for individual action.

It was his duty, he said, to try to get as much A.R.P. equipment as possible for Victoria, but much of it could not be obtained immediately since all other cities in North America were also seeking such material. He would continue to work for the province, city and municipalities on the proposal, he said.

If every individual had a ladder to reach the roof of his house, buckets of sand ready for incendiaries and hose coupled in case of fire he would be doing his part to a large degree, Mr. Mayhew said.

Dealing with the Japanese, Mr. Mayhew noted the committee on the Oriental issue which went to Ottawa was composed of British Columbians with a full appreciation of conditions here. It had also the benefit of knowledge of the international complications involved.

He had announced his stand both before and after Pearl Harbor and would have preferred more drastic action, he said.

'Skipper' Bardsley Dies Suddenly

William Reginald Bardsley, commissioner in the Sea Scouts for Victoria district and Scoutmaster of Oak Bay, known to a wide circle as "Skipper" Bardsley, died suddenly Thursday at the Royal Jubilee Hospital, aged 47 years.

He was born in England and came to Canada with his parents 46 years ago. For 24 years he had been a resident of Cadboro Bay. He leaves his widow, at the family residence, and three sons, Sergeant Charles W. Bardsley, with the Canadian forces, and Robert and Edwin, at home.

Funeral services will be held at Haywards B.C. Funeral Chapel Monday at 2. Burial at Royal Oak.

A veteran of the Great War, Mr. Bardsley saw service in France with the 67th Western Scouts, sustaining the injuries which left him with a tubercular hip. Despite his handicap he took a keen interest in the Scout movement and was one of its most indefatigable workers.

From 1925 until his death he was in charge of the Scout department of the Red Cross workshop, and a member of the committee paid the following tribute to his memory:

"The sudden death of Mr. Bardsley is the most serious loss that the Canadian Red Cross Workshop has suffered since its inception 21 years ago. 'Bill' Bardsley was the creator, and for 17 years the active and efficient head of the sheet metal branch of the workshop."

"To this endeavor, in spite of his very serious war disability, he gave devoted service, impelled and rewarded largely by the knowledge that his efforts resulted in the workshop being able to give needed work to a number of other disabled veterans."

"Under his management the sheet metal shop became a successful and self-supporting enterprise, but even this did not prevent Mr. Bardsley from devoting a part of his extraordinary energy and capacity to other important works such as the Sea Scouts and Boy Scouts."

"William Reginald Bardsley was in every respect a first-class Canadian citizen who will be greatly missed."

$15,811,000 to B.C. For Income Tax, Gas

If British Columbia signs the agreement being sent out by Ottawa—and there is little doubt she will—the province will receive $12,048,000 a year in compensation for vacating the personal income and corporation tax field, Finance Minister Isley has announced at Ottawa.

In addition, British Columbia will receive a grant sufficient to maintain its gasoline tax receipts at $3,763,000 yearly, should they fall below that amount because of federal rationing.

Premier John Hart, who, as B.C. Minister of Finance made preliminary arrangements in Ottawa for the change in the province's financial set-up, said today the terms looked satisfactory to him, although he has not yet received a copy of the agreement.

Mr. Hart is not expected to comment on the agreement until he brings down his budget in the Legislature late next week. It will then be up to the Legislature to ratify the agreement and there is expected to be little debate.

In the last fiscal year British Columbia collected $10,534,000 in income tax and $3,759,000 in gasoline tax. In addition there were corporation taxes. The province will be in about the same position under the new arrangement as before. Collections from motor licenses are expected to drop in the next year as the number of motor cars become less and less.

Close to $100,000,000 a year will be required from the federal treasury to compensate the provinces if all agree to come under the new plan.

Last April, in his budget speech, Mr. Isley estimated the federal treasury would not about $80,000,000 if the provinces gave up the income and corporation tax field.

The new agreement will be in effect for the duration of the war and one year after, "barring some national emergency involving a complete change in conditions."

B.C. Will Have Highway Board

British Columbia will have a highway board composed of Public Works Department engineers. This board will administer the road policy of the province, thus removing it largely from politics.

"The Department of Public Works has put into practical effect a suggestion made by Hon. R. W. Bruhn during the last session in dealing with highways," Hon. Herbert Anson, acting Minister of Public Works, announced.

"On the formation of the present government Mr. Bruhn took the position that a solution or partial solution might be secured in dealing with the problems of roads by the introduction of a highway board made up of engineers of the Department of Public Works itself," Mr. Anson said.

The minister said discussions are now going on between the members of this committee or board, with the view of settling the distribution on a business and economic basis, entirely aside from any political situation, of the money that can be set aside by the government for maintenance of the provincial highway system. If the system is adopted and it is found to be satisfactory then it will be evident a betterment of the existing system has been found.

Mr. Bruhn, Minister of Public Works in the new coalition government, has been indisposed since mid-December, but is expected to return to Victoria before the session is over.

"By that time," Mr. Anson said, "initial steps will be ready for practical introduction into the service of the new system."

Two R.C.A.F. airmen of Patricia Bay were charged in city police court today with assaulting Charlie Wong, Chinese waiter, causing grievous bodily harm. The airmen were remanded on Saturday without plea. Wong was taken to Royal Jubilee Hospital by police. The house doctor who attended reported he was suffering from bad bruises about the face and would not be released for two or three days. Police reported Wong was in a fight early today at Johnson and Government Streets over a meal account.

Three daughters, Mrs. Lily E. Armstrong, Mrs. Frances E. Routh and Mrs. Ethel M. Kirchner, all of Victoria; one son, L. Bdr. Albert V. Gardner, R.C.A., Vancouver; a sister at Fraser Lake, B.C.; a brother in England, and five grandchildren. Funeral service Monday at 2.30 at the Thomson Funeral Home. Cremation at Royal Oak.

PORCHLIGHT REGULATION

I wonder if I am singular in being unable to see the logic in a law that makes it illegal to use a porch light to welcome a friend when there is no blackout nor imminent threat of one, while during this same period it is legal to have very interior light ablaze in most exposed houses on the coast without blind or curtain drawn!

No porch lights, but enemy aliens still free to use such a house!

At least we expect our law-makers to be logical, otherwise it will be possible for us to have tragedy of the same kind that at the present moment is costing the democratic peoples untold hardships in the Philippines, Malaya, Singapore and elsewhere.

THINGS THAT MATTER

It is gratifying to hear of the welcome accorded the two new women members in the local House. It is sad, however, that they had so little to say about some matters. Ten minutes might have been packed with import. The Japs are at our gate. We are unprepared and certainly not supplied with A.R.P. necessities. We trust the R.C.N., R.G.A., and R.C.A.F. Drink is very expensive and the old are undernourished. Farming does not pay and roads are not up to standard. Businesses are about to close out and many counted unfit for national service are in need and the young men hold back. The Japs are free in our midst and in the woods. They may be our satisfied members of society.

Restraining the unhappy drinkers and half a loaf of bread to the aged cannot add to our general fitness. The drinking laws are so revolting to contemplate. The saddest thing about the whole situation is that it could readily be changed without disabling taxation and over-

Red Collective Farms Saves Grain for Army

By EDDY GILMORE
KUIBYSHEV (AP)—Russians are laughing at the Germans' claim that their grain is running low.

And I saw the reason on the Voroshilov collective farm in the Molotov district at the foot of the Zhiguli Mountains.

The people harvested such quantities of grain that baby cribs have been crowded from the nursery into the snow.

"We know when to expect our babies," laughed Georgi Aryanin, chairman of the collective. "The babies are not here yet, but the grain is. We make a home for it until the army needs it."

Trudging in snow to our knees while the cold wind whistled down from white-capped mountains, we walked from building to building, all bulging with grain.

FATHER OF WHEAT

The big, bearded Santa Claus who opened each bin was Sidor Radayev, a grainkeeper called the Father of Victory Wheat.

"He's a good father for such precious possessions," said Peter Kohosovskiy, secretary of the party committee in this district. "He has given four sons to fight the Germans. One he lost. The others are at the front."

Sidor Radayev looked proudly, pointing inside a building that had once been a nursery. The floor was covered by heaping piles of yellow grain, tons of it.

"I still have my children," he said in a voice which rumbled from his long beard. "I guard each grain as a son."

UNUSUAL SCENE

The baby cribs standing in the snow made a strange sight.

"We have more room here now," in a way, Aryanin explained. "Many of our men are at the front. We bring in the cribs as we need them."

After selling its quota of grain, the collective farm donated eight tons to the defence fund. It also gave 100 pairs of felt boots, 40 sheepskin coats, 70 pairs of gloves and 50 blankets.

Last year this community of 980 people, tilling 224 farms, had an income of $90,000. The secretary said it was one of Russia's 220,000 similar collectives.

Virtually the only men left on the collective are the elders, most of them veterans of other wars, and small boys. The women are doing all kinds of work. The girls take care of the cattle, sheep and pigs.

Housing Problem In Singapore

SINGAPORE (AP)—The influx of refugees from areas in the path of the Japanese advance down the Malay peninsula toward Singapore is straining the facilities of this city.

The housing situation was difficult enough before the outbreak of the war in the Pacific; now it is acute.

However, the city has an ample supply of the basic foods—flour, rice and meat—for some time but the loss of agricultural areas in central Malaya has reduced the vegetable supply.

To meet this shortage, the authorities are pushing a scheme to take over and seed open spaces on the island of Singapore and the southern part of Johore, the only one of the native states not yet occupied or penetrated by the Japanese.

Singapore has few idle persons today, no matter what race or nationality. The Chinese and Indian communities are supplying the labor for essential services.

The rainy season in Japan is commonly called "Bai-u" or Plum Rain, as it occurs when the plums are getting ripe.

Watch Laval Moves For Developments

BERLIN (German Broadcast Recorded by AP)—Pierre Laval, one-time Premier of France, has returned from his country home at Chateaudon, near Vichy, to Paris and already has received numerous visitors, according to a German dispatch from Paris.

(The return to Paris of Laval, strong advocate of French collaboration with Germany and Marshal Petain's chief aide until he was ousted from the Vichy regime in December, 1940, may herald important developments in French-German relations.)

Merchants Object To Cut in Grant

The retail merchants' section of the Chamber of Commerce, meeting Thursday, unanimously voted opposition to any suggestion of eliminating the grant to the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau.

Chairman of the section, George E. Macdonald, pointed out that the grant is paid for by collection of business licenses which had been raised in 1933 on the understanding that the additional money raised would be devoted to operation of the publicity bureau.

The annual civic grant to the bureau, he said, is not paid by the public at large and does not affect the mill rate.

Other members of the section hoped that the tourist trade would be maintained in spite of the war and said business would suffer if the grant were discontinued.

Matches Banned

OTTAWA (CP)—The Post Office Department called anew today for public co-operation in the sending of parcels to Canadian soldiers overseas and stressed the fact that senders should abide by postal regulations under which it is an offence to send any inflammable, explosive, dangerous or destructive substance through the mails.

Recently, it was said, a parcel burst into flames at the base post office here. It was found to contain six boxes of matches.

Brooke-Popham Not Guilty

Menzies Blames London For Far East Plane Lack

MELBOURNE (CP)—Former Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies today laid the blame for the shortage of British air strength in Singapore and the Malay Peninsula on the shoulders of military leaders in London.

"Whoever is to blame for the shortage of airplanes at Singapore and in Malaya," he said in a broadcast, "it is certainly not Sir Robert Brooke-Popham."

Air Chief Marshal Brooke-Popham was retired at the end of last month as the commander-in-chief of the British Far Eastern forces with headquarters at Singapore. Since the Japanese have swept down the Malay Peninsula he has been criticized as being responsible for inadequate preparations.

Mr. Menzies said: "When I was passing through Singapore early last year Sir Robert from the first to last spoke to me about the urgent and predominant need for air strength, particularly fighter strength."

GREAT ANXIETY

"He is a brave man, but he was in a state of the greatest possible emotional disturbance about our air weakness."

"Sir Robert Brooke-Popham knew the facts. The Australian government knew them and the British government knew them. "Conference after conference took place in London about the question of air strength in the Far East."

"On behalf of Australia, the problem was put as one of the greatest gravity and urgency. "Accurate adherence to historical fact requires that I should say that the service chiefs in London took a more modest view of the air requirements for Singapore and Malaya than those on the spot."

It is believed that the first Vatican City was built about 500 A.D.
